This is why I hate rolling shonen series...there tend to be lots of epic battles which involve lots of epic redrawing...but I've closed a lot this chapter since I don't think that many people actually pay attention to whether or not the coloring is perfect...
-P For those of you that actually care enough to read this Thank you :D But you're also probably the ones who care enough to notice every imperfection in my editing... And with this, I will necessarily stop this series indefinitely... due to lack of time/interest on my part. (Sooo... I'm an extremely noncommittal person when there are no battles :P)
